A note on all tongs by AUX

All the tongs made by AUX have the same spring action which is patented in Japan. Usually a spring is produced with only one press for tongs, however AUX perform 2 press directions – once horizontally and twice vertically which makes it both gentle to use and durable. Extensive testing of 100,000 opening and closing actions of the spring has been completed and the springs do not warp or change shape in any way. There is a certificate of durability available as evidence but most of all you can be sure that these tongs are all easy to use and will last in your kitchen. AUX have designed their range of tongs so that when they are laid flat the tips of the tongs are raised to allow your counter surface to remain as clean as possible.

Flotsam & Jetsam become jewels from the sea

Beachcombing for washed-up waste on beaches yields ocean plastics that can be used in our everyday life and remind us to practise better habits. This inspirational company views marine plastic trash as a valuable resource as the team combs their local seaside in Wakayama prefecture in Japan for its treasures. The lead artist is Ms Hifumi Ando who often gives lectures on conservation to students from primary school to university and the focus is always on the damage caused by plastics in the ocean. The company's quest to clean the seashore results in these wonderful creations for us to enjoy.
